Farm Grandma's Surprise

(Book 2 in the Farm Grandma Tales series)

As Farm Grandma is doing morning chores, she tells the animals the exciting news that tomorrow she will have a surprise for them. All the animals are excited and are impatient to see the surprise.

The next morning when the Farmer comes out to feed the animals instead of Farm Grandma, the animals decide they can wait no longer and take matters into their own hands!

(excerpts from 58 pages with 26 illustrations)

As Farm Grandma visits with each of the animals, she tells them she has a special surprise.

All the animals begin wondering what the surprise could be.

When the sun comes up the next morning, the animals are waiting to see what Farm Grandma's surprise is. But on this particular morning, they only see the Farmer.

"Where is Farm Grandma?" the animals ask each other. "Where is the surprise?"
